IRISES

VER since 1900, at which time I was with Messrs. Goos & Koenemann, Nierwalluf, Germany, my most interesting work has been in hybridizing and raising new hardy perennials. Irises especially took my fancy. In earlier years I worked for several noted growers of perennials, and since 1911 I have been in business for myself. I hope to be able to introduce from time to time real good and distinct varieties. Below are descriptions of three of my new Irises and on page 4 my Phlox, Rosalind.

THREE NEW IRISES BELLADONNA

In Bulletin No. 3 of the American Iris Society (page 23), Mr. John C. Wister, president of the Society, admires this variety, calling it a "rather deep purplish blue Plicata, which was remarkable in flowering almost two weeks ahead of all other Plicatas, coming, in fact, earlier than the earliest Pallidas, such as Brionense. If an early strain of Plicatas can be developed to come in between the Germanicas and the Pallidas it will make a great addition to our gardens." Belladonna blooms regularly and profusely. It is distinct in that its standards are darker than the falls, caused by a more heavy mottling and striping of purple on the white ground. An excellent and showy variety that has been greatly admired. $5 each.

UNDINE

A very strong grower and very conspicuous among other Pallida varieties. The standards are a lovely shade of deep lavender, while the falls are rich velvety purple. No collection of Irises is complete without this handsome variety. $3 each.

RED RIDING HOOD

The nearest approach to red in the Iris family, and for that reason it has a place in the Iris-garden that no other variety can fill. The standards are an attractive reddish lavender, while the falls are purplish solferino-red, with mottlings of brown near the base; the backs of the petals pinkish lavender. Greatly admired wherever seen. $3 each.

The set of three new Irises named above, $10

1. Red Riding Hood
3. Undine

2. Belladonna
